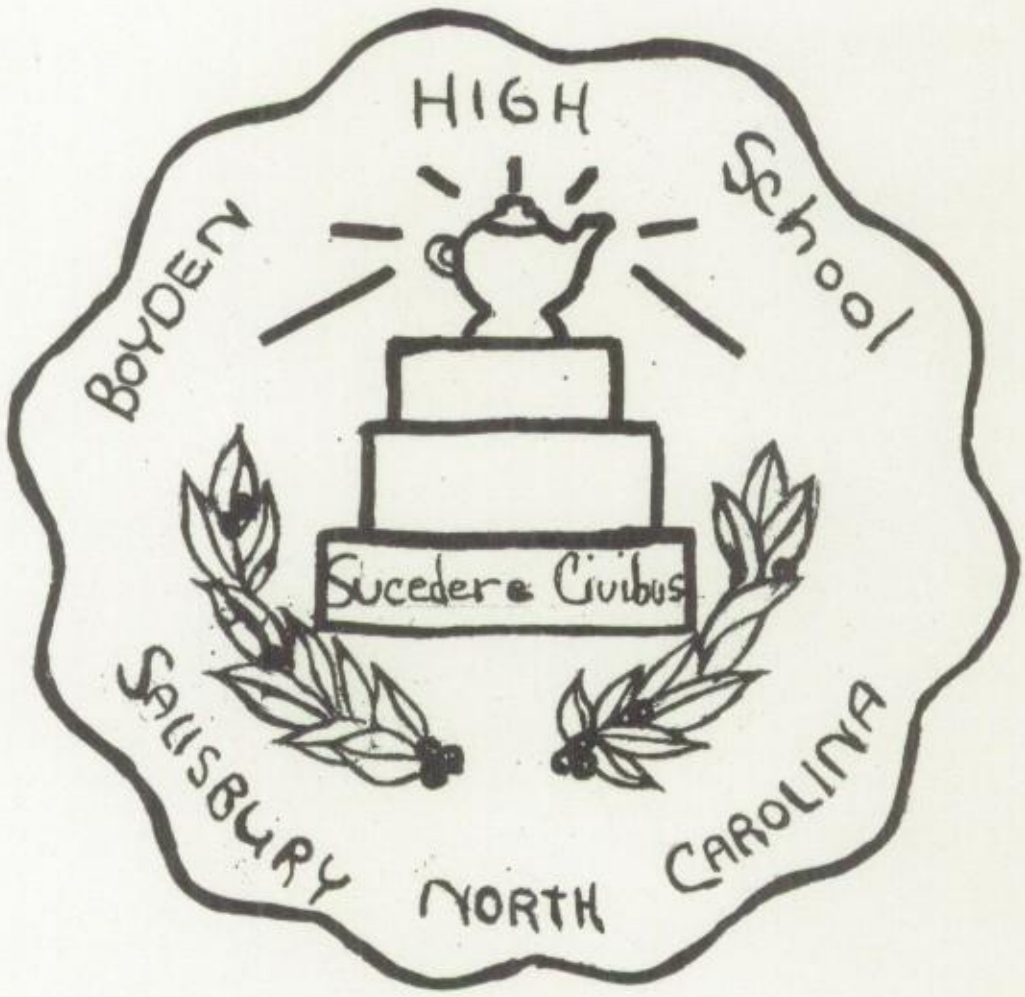
BOYDEN HIGH SCHOOL



ALMA MATER

"Hail to Alma Mater, our school, our life.
Hail to our dear Boyden, through storm and strife
Guiding as we shine on high, striving 'til we do or die
Singing as we march ever onward, ever high.

"To succeed as citizens, this is our creed
To succeed as citizens, this will be our deed
Forward, upward, shine on high, leading, heeding, 'til we die
Singing as we march ever onward, ever high."

DEDICATION

Coach William S. Ludwig

We, the Echo Staff of 1960, dedicate this issue to Mr. William S. Ludwig in appreciation for the interest, time, work, untiring efforts, and great service so unselfishly rendered to us in his twenty-seven years of coaching. He is a builder of character, a leader instead of a director, and truly a devoted person—both to his friends and to his work.

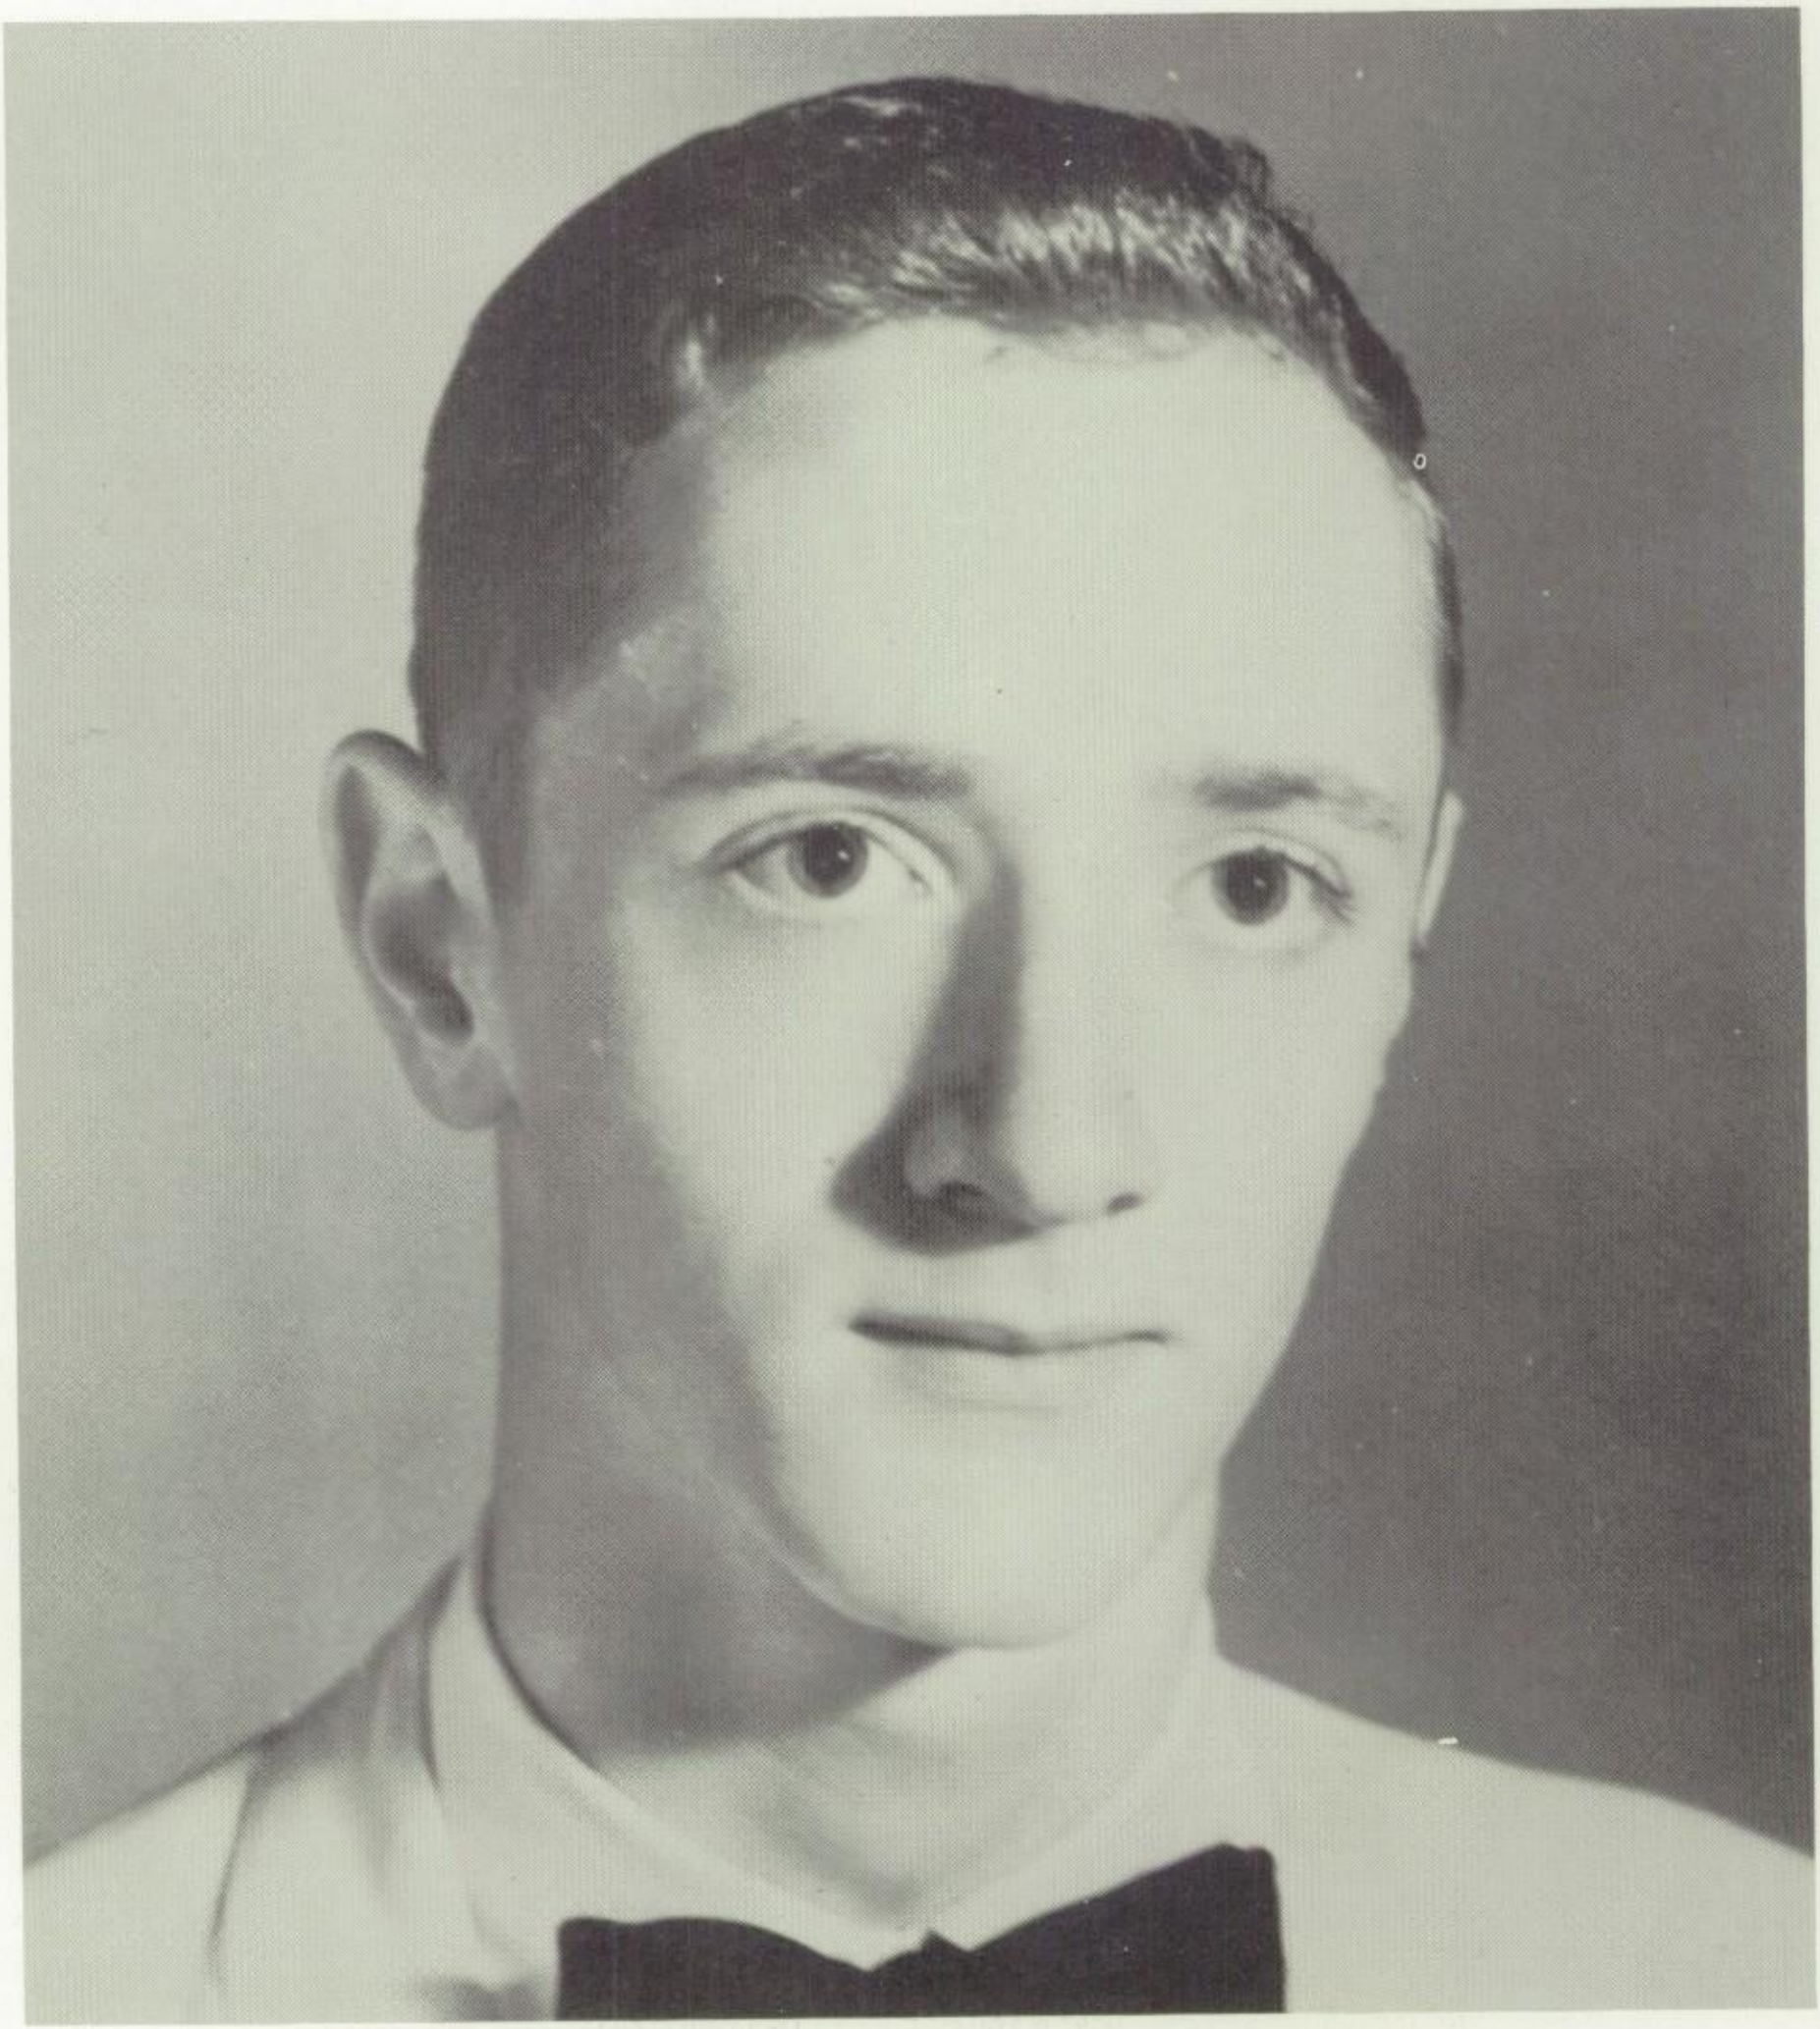
IN MEMORIAM

BILLY DAVID PENCE
July 11, 1942—January 5, 1960



"The posture that we give the dead
Points out the Soul's eternal sleep."

Phillip Freneau

An individualist all the way, he stood up for his beliefs regardless of the opinions of the crowd. His mind was constantly delving into the mysterious unknowns of science, which offered a great challenge to his inductive reasoning.

We, the seniors, are proud of this our last year, yet there is a waver of sadness in our thoughts. We hope that we have in some way contributed something to our beloved Boyden. Some of us were school leaders, leaders on the competitive fields, cheerleaders, and then there was the class as a whole following in its chosen leaders' paths.

We began to feel a tinge of excitement and importance with the arrival of class rings, but graduation still seemed a thing of the future.

We struggled through those sociology classes trying to get a better understanding of ourselves and other people. Many of the more intellectual students proceeded with their math and science courses while the rest of us marvelled at their braveness and intellectual capacity. We all had one struggle in common—"Macbeth."

It seemed we spent so much time filling out those college application blanks and we'll never forget that blank feeling after "College Board." Some of us were even lucky enough to be recipients of scholarships.

Of course we owe you, the underclassmen, our thanks for respecting our privileges and for the respect you gave us, which built up our ego.

What we owe our teachers can never be measured by our words but may our actions and successes speak louder.

We have had our last experience of every high school activity, which is a regretful thought in a way but also a challenging and hopeful prospect. Our lives are just to begin and we have learned only a small part of what we will learn in a lifetime. With each new experience in life may we acquire more knowledge, for in living, we will learn. With these thoughts, we will step across the stage for that long awaited certificate, which will mark only the starting point of our lives.

How time has flown since we were freshmen! Now, at last, the long awaited year is almost here—our senior year. Even though we are joyfully looking forward to becoming seniors, we cast thoughts backward and realize that this junior year has been great. We have added many memories, making this year one we'll never forget.

Remember your geometry, U. S. History classes, and especially the T.V. classes? They were long dreaded but now over, appreciated and very worth-'while. Remember your first year in French! Then you appreciated the help devised from taking Latin.

This junior year, we really became part of the school. Some were school officers, student association chairmen, assistants on the annual staff, and members of the special journalism class. Many other honors and positions were bestowed on our classmates.

Never will we forget the Junior-Senior prom; the many nights spent working on the decorations. Will it be as good as ours? That has been the question of all the junior classes but always answered the same—ours was the best! Yes, ours was lovely and will never be forgotten by those who attended.

Juniors, you have been in schools these past three years to prepare for that final year, your senior year. May all your mistakes and successes linger with you! When next year comes, be proud and help make a remembered senior class.

Your Sophomore year has drawn to a close bringing to mind many memories and incidents. Wasn't biology fun, girls? What would you have done without those brave boys who made such excellent lab partners? And what about that last gym class, shower and all?

Some of you represented your class well this year by beginning to take part in school affairs by being majorettes, sophomore waitresses, hatcheck boys, and some of you even ran for school offices.

To climax the ending of this year you were participants in a very life-like Roman banquet with appetizing Roman dishes and even dances to entertain you.

As you end this school year, you are at the ending and beginning of many things. You are taking another step up the ladder to become more responsible and active students at Boyden High School. You will hold even higher and more responsible positions in your home, church, and school.

One of the most awaited years in your lives, your first year in high school, is now coming to an end. The many new friends, the exciting parties and blasts, and the newness of this new career will leave you with many memories you can never forget.

Remember your first day at high school and initiation? Coming home that day and frightfully scaring your parents with your painted faces?

Remember the good aromas on the third floor from the home ec. lab? Then the days, the days you thought you couldn't endure much longer, the day you sewed the sleeve up, or broke the needle on your sewing machine, or the slide bed fell off. Oh, those horrid days!

The boys in shop! Will you ever forget building all kinds of little dust catchers, and taking them home to your mothers.

The students who thought that they could never learn our English longuage and then were thrown into Latin, another foreign language. Amo, amas, amat!

Then the early morning T.V. watchers. Yes, none other than the general science students. This was a completely new course to them, frightening, interesting, and successful.

Then came the beanies. Those dear little gold and black hats that were forever found on those senior's heads. Hey, I thought the freshmen were supposed to wear them?!?

Did you notice that the band and chorus grew? Yes, all those musically inclined freshmen joined these groups certainly helped bring credit to our school.

Many, many more things could be written about, this your freshman year in high school, but space will not permit.

Remember you are on your way now. Your new career has begun, and many more incidents will take place in these coming years. There you can put away with your previous memories of this . . . Your first year. . . .

HOW TO BE A BETTER CITIZEN
OUR IDEALS

The staff of the 1960 Echo has attempted to bring you, in a limited number of pages, a vivid picture of your school days in Boyden High School. We have worked to preserve cherished memories of your classmates, teachers, sock hops, sports events, scenes of our school life, and other well-remembered events that will endure faithfully in your hearts. There are also the intangible things which cannot be pictured—the fellowship, the love, the honor, the ideals, and the standards, which have done so much to endear this school to us.

How can we ever forget the hushed, awesome silence as the curtains opened to reveal the flaming N H S torch and lighted candelabras on Tap Day, or the velvety autumn dusk stealthily creeping across the sky while our football boys wearily trudged home after a strenuous scrimmage, or the glowing Bunsen burners in chemistry lab, or the lump of pride which came while we watched our friends clasp their diplomas as we waited for our turn.

Yes, all these things will be a part of our lives forever. We can never forget the memories, the education, or the happiness that our years at Boyden have instilled in us. Time never turns back and neither must we. We must go forward and work for our aims, hopes, and ideals, for nothing good is accomplished without work, With these thoughts, may we leave to become a credit to our school, our parents, our friends, and our great country.
